Purchase of a Stockton Ave., Allegheny, Lot for an Experiment.

FIRST BIG APARTMENT HOUSE.

And Not a Theater, to be Constructed by the Purchasers. A SIX-FLAT STRUCTURE CONTEMPLATED

C. H. Love yesterday sold the property of the Tiernan heirs on Stockton arenue, Allegheny City, 70x240 feet, with an old residence building, for $30,000 to D. T. Watson, Esq., and R. N. Head. The price paid is for the ground, as the buildings are not considered worth anything as an investthe Tiernan heirs on Stockton avenue, Alleconsidered worth anything as an invest-

It is also stated that, since the sale was consummated, Mr. Parke, or someone supposed to be similarly interested, had Father McTighe, and there were reasons in time at $35,000.

Mr. Love said he did not feel at liberty to there are people who say it is not a conjecture, but a crystalized fact, that Messrs. Watson and Head intend to build an apartment house, comprised of a number of flats for rent, to be built after the most approved style in vogue in the Eastern cities. Whether or not they the most approved style in vogue in the Eastern cities. Whether or not they intend to have a culinary department attached, which will take the burdens of the Schuck, Smith, Sorg and President Ford—13. tached, which will take the burdens of the kitchen off tenants, was not ascertained; but it was suggested that the communal idea in this respect might be entertained. The intention is said to be to put up a building six stories or more in height, and it is thought a co-operative cooking project may Attention has been called in the past to the advantages poor people might gain were they to band together and employ a purchasing agent on salary to buy food for them. They could pay him a liberal salary and then feed themselves 33 per cent cheap-er and much better than they can under present methods of purchasing. For instance, a barrel of onions can be bought on Liberty street to-day for $1.40, while a bushel bought in a small way costs $1 60.

It is estimated by some that if a co-opera-tive and scientific cook, who knew how to utilize odds and ends, were employed by a number of families they could secure better food at a rate that would not only save the expense of servants but the cares of the mistress of the household, allowing her time to get acquainted with the babies in the few intervals which life in society allows her. ADAM SLATER'S BLOOD

Is Traced to the Hands of Thomas Hollowny by the Coroner's Jury.

The ploody butcher knife with which Thomas Holloway is alleged to have almost decapitated Adam Slater at the Gould boarding house in Cork's Run, Saturday night, was produced in evidence and fully identified at the Coroner's inquest vesterday morning. Walter Green, James Gould, Mrs. Mary Gould, Constable Klishum, James Atkinson, Joseph Rollison, John Cochrane, James Nicholson, Chris. Steinmiller, Dr. T. R. Miller and Charles Black-burn were the witnesses, and they detailed the various phases of the tragic story as They agreed that Holloway had explained his bloody deed by saying: "Adam asked me to do it." There could be no possible doubt as to the character of the occurrence, as to Holloway's alleged drunkenness at the time. On the following verdict Coroner McDowell committed Holloway for murder in the first degree: Adam Slater, aged about 45 years, came to his Adam Stater, aged about 45 years, came to his death at the residence of James Gould, Chartiers township, Sunday, January 20, 1889, about 12:69 A. M., from hemorrhage of the neck and facial arteries, due to his throat having been cut. From all the evidence the jury finds that such cutting was done with a butcher knife in the hands of one Thomas Holloway in the dining room of said house about 11:50 P. M., Saturday night, January 19, 1889, with felonious intent.

Select Council Passes an Ordinance That No Infected Body be Taken Into Church, Chapel or Hall.

With Mr A C Robertson in the chair. Select Council met yesterday, went into a committee of the whole, and at once took up the discussion of the ordinance offered at last meeting relative to the disposition of persons dying from intectious diseases. Section 6, relative to the transfer of bodies, was approved with a slight amendment. Section 7, providing for fumigation;

section 8, for the penalty of violation, and section 9, for instituting suits, were ap-Dr. Grimes offered as a substitute for section 4 that infected bodies be not this section.

Mr. Lambie said it was not the intention smallpox or yellow fever patient in the church, yet Dr. Daly had said diphtheria and scarlet fever were equally dangerous.

Mr. Sullivan had acted on the advice of offered an option to hold the property for a the Catholic Church when mass could not be said without the body.

A vote was taken and the substitute Mr. Love said he did not feel at liberty to state what intention the purchasers had, but it is conjectured elsewhere, and in fact question of that kind could not be raised in a committee of the whole. Mr. Robertson's motion to reconsider section 5 was adopted, and the committee arose.

Mr. Sullivan reported to Council, and Mr. Sullivan moved to lay the ordinance on the table, which was lost, as follows:

> The ordinance was laid over for printing and that providing for more effectual pro-tection of the public health was postponed for further action.
